Design

School of Creative Arts and Technologies
Magee campus

BDes Hons Design for Creative Practice (with named Specialisms)

The programme aims to provide students with trans-disciplinary approach to design studies, allowing them to combine theory, critical thinking and practice from different creative disciplines. Student can choose to develop their education as a generalist designer or refined along a systematic pathway or combination of pathways that map to specific design discipline careers, within an evolving industry.

You will be taught by designers who are international prize winners in various aspects of design. They are all commercially and research active. Their close links to industry lead to challenging live projects and professional visits. Staff, students and graduates have a long track record of successful enterprise and entrepreneurship.

Key Features

Exploring core aspects of design practice and theory across 2D, 3D and 4D.

Unique optional pathways leading to specialist design careers reflected in degree title, including:

1. Graphic Design
2. Motion Graphics
3. Product, Interaction and User Experience
4. Animation and 3D Digital content

Associate Bachelor's Exit award at end of year 2

Placement year (optional) - work in industry at home or abroad to earn a Diploma of Professional Practice (DPP) or study abroad to earn a Diploma of International Area Studies (DIAS).

You will have the opportunity to study modules in animation, biomedical design, drawing, graphic design, interaction design, moving image, 3D design and simulation, and typography.

Progression Routes

PgDip/MDes Design for Creative Practice
Design-led PhD study

BDes Hons Design for Creative Practice (with named Specialisms)

The programme aims to provide students with trans-disciplinary approach to design studies, allowing them to combine theory, critical thinking and practice from different creative disciplines. Students can choose to develop their education as a multi-skilled designer or refined along a systematic pathway, or combination of pathways that map to specific design discipline careers, within an evolving industry.

You will be taught by designers who are international prize winners in various aspects of design. They are all commercially and research active. Their close links to industry lead to challenging live projects and professional visits. Staff, students and graduates have a long track record of successful enterprise and entrepreneurship.

Dear <<First Name>>

Thanks for applying to Ulster University!

You and your parents are invited to a UCAS Day on Saturday 7 February, 10am - 3pm.

Come and get a feel for what it is to be an Ulster University student. Explore our facilities, attend subject talks and meet with other applicants, academic staff and current students from your main subject area. We have also designed a specific talk for your parents (on fees, funding & accommodation).

We know your UCAS choices are very important, particularly the selection of your UCAS Choice Firm (CF) and your Choice Insurance (CI). This UCAS event will help you make the most informed decisions possible.

Book your place online
You can book your place at our UCAS Day online at:
arts.ulster.ac.uk/interviews

Keep in contact
We prefer to correspond by email so please keep all your contact details current via your UCAS Track account. Don't hesitate to contact us: artsadmissions@ulster.ac.uk if you have any questions about your application. Please quote your UCAS Personal ID in any correspondence.

See you on the 7th,
Gary Kendall
